A word from your officers.....

President Dan Jones

When I shut up heaven and there is no rain, or command the locusts to devour the land, or send pestilence among My people, if My people who are called by My name will humble themselves, and pray and seek My face, and turn from their wicked ways, then I will hear from heaven, and will forgive their sin and heal their land. 2 Chronicles 7:13-14

This passage is probably not new to anyone reading this. I'm reasonably certain you have all read it or at the very least heard it before, probably many times. Do we believe it? Is our faith mobilized by it? Are we certain that God spoke it not only for Solomon's time, but for us as well?

Today our nation and the world is facing pestilence unlike anything we have seen at least in my lifetime. I remember Ebola, but in my memory that was mostly in Africa. I also vaguely remember Sars, which also originated in China, but it affected only about 8,000 people and killed less than 800. Corona is affecting virtually everyone in the United States to some degree, and virtually every country in the world. And so far, there are no real answers. Our President is seen daily on television trying to give us hope, and I truly appreciate him and what he is doing. I really think, however, that even he understands that the real answer (always) comes from somewhere else, someOne else. The real answer comes from God. I'm sure many are praying already, but I just want to encourage everyone to pray fervently according to 2 Chronicles 7 and ask God to heal our land, our world, and to encourage people you know to join in the prayer. He can.

Dan

Vice-President Don Bloodworth

With all the news about Covid-19, it may be difficult to know what is fact or rumor. I hear news that does not in my mind compute. Facts from one source with contradictive facts from another source. It can get confusing, and scary. I of course am not an expert, government official, nor connected with news, so any advice I offer is only speculative. In this time of uncertainty, and daily change we must do what we believe to be best for our own family's safety. I hear people talk about those that go out, saying they are causing this to last longer, but we're told not to judge. Remember God has this it's all in His control. He may just be using this like He did with Israel, to get us back in His good graces. Keep your family safe, and pray for God's forgiveness and mercy.

Chaplin Eric Smith

About a month ago, Chrysy and I started renovating our house...new paint, new floors, new bathrooms – you get the picture. I must say that it's a lot of work, but in the end it will be very rewarding to see what we end up with. While I was painting the other day, I was thinking about my walk with my Lord and comparing it to our renovations. How many times in my life have I tried to "renovate" my own life and make it look all pretty? If I am honest, I would say a whole lot...I want everyone to think I am all pretty and nice. But really at times, I am just a big ol' mess. And a tired one at that. See, I don't have to work on making myself look good to please my Father. There is nothing that I could ever do with my life to make myself good enough. However, my Savior did it all for me. With His sacrifice on the cross His blood covered all my sins and washed me white as snow (what a great paint job that is).

I'm sure that I am not alone in trying to renovate my life. If you are like me, then we need to quit together. Quit trying to make ourselves presentable to our Father (we can never do that). We need to enjoy the renovation that Christ has already done for us.

Love Ya'll - Eric

2020 National Day of Prayer. We made several stops again this year. We prayed for our nation, local officials, first responders, teachers, students, parents, and medical staff. If we only knew how much those prayers would be needed in the near future. We got honked at and a few "God Bless You". Lord you knew our hearts then and you know our hearts now, we thank you that you are on your Throne and have everything under control. Keep praying, He hears us...

The February 29th Womens Breakfast put on by the husbands of The Koinonia Riders. These Godly men served us with honor and style. Thanks for the wonderful meal and fellowship. When can we do it again?

Pray your best for those in your life. Especially the ones who wish harm upon you.
